

MY MILITARY HERO

My military hero is my step dad Phillip Iddins or known as SSgt Iddins. He is in the USMC or the Marine Corps. He is a SDI or Senior Drill Instructor on Parris Island. His job is to train recruits. I love my dad so much. He went to war in Iraq in 2003 during the Invasion. He has also been to cool places such as Japan and Norway. I'm so happy and blessed that I've got him. If there was a contest for the best dad he would win.

He's my hero because he fights for my freedom and yours too. What my dad has done makes me so proud and happy and I'm so lucky to have him. If I didn't have him I don't know what I would do. If I had to pick four words to define him the words would be Heroic, generous, thoughtful, and loving. Those describe him and all the ways he makes me happy. He makes me feel special and loves me too. He always tells me I can do great things he is the one who makes me want to achieve more in everything I do.

My dad is my hero and he always will no matter what he always amazes me with everything he does. I don't really know how he pulls off the things he does but some way or another he does. I love him and I always will. He's helped and saved people. He has won awards such as the Navy Commendation Medal and the Navy Achievement Medal. He was the NCO of the year and received the key to the city of Boston, MA. Those awards don't make him any different but to me they make me happy and proud of him. He is so wonderful, the best, and such a wonderful father. That's the reasons why I love him and am so proud of him. I Love him so much.

THE END
